AGAIN PREDICT AIRSHIP FLIGHT

Lincoln Highway Association Says Plan of Last Year is Revived and Gettysburg May See them Pass this Way.

Last year there was published a story telling that an airplane endurance flight would be made over the line of the Lincoln Highway and Gettysburg, with other towns on the route, waited patiently, but in vain, for the sound of the motors. This year the publicity department of the Lincoln Highway Association renews hope for the event in the following story sent from New York City: The Aero Club of America is waging an active campaign to arouse the public interest in the necessity of building and keeping a sufficient number of aeroplanes in the country which might be available by the government in time of need. It is pointed out that aeroplanes have been so perfected during the past two years that it is entirely possible to use them for commercial purposes such as delivering mail and that a transcontinental flight would be quite practical.

To this end arrangements are being proposed whereby aeroplanes will make the flight from New York to San Francisco following the route of the Lincoln Highway which is the shortest transcontinental roadway connecting the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. It will be necessary to establish landing places along the Lincoln Highway with possibly hangars and repair stations at these points. Lincoln Highway markers for the air men will be needed. As planned, there will be large arrows placed every 10 or 12 miles, to be of concrete or stretched canvas, so that they can be observed from the air, and marked with a cross where a landing is possible.

According to Augustus Post, an official of the Aero Club of America, the war department and the post office department are taking a great interest in the proposed flight.

SEEK DEAD MAN'S RELATIVES HERE

Burgess Eicholtz Told of Former Gettysburgian who Died in Little Rock. Left here Fifteen Years ago.

Burgess Eicholtz has been appealed to by the Little Rock, Arkansas Union, Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators, and Paperhangers, of America to find the relatives of Charles Weikert, a former Gettysburgian, who died in that city on January 25th. Inquiry among the various Weikert families living in and near Gettysburg fails to reveal any relationship existing with the man whose death has just been reported here. The letter to Mr. Eicholtz is from S. O. Harris recording secretary of the union. He says:

"I am trying to locate relatives of Charles Weikert, painter by trade, about 60 years old, 5 ft. 6 in. tall, weight about 140 pounds. He had been down in this country about fifteen years and died January 25, 1916. It seems that he had no effects or letters, so one could write to his people, or at least we were so informed at the hospital. But he had stated that his home was in Gettysburg, therefore I am using this channel to try and locate some of his people.

"I would like for you to have a notice of his death placed in your papers, also inquiring for relatives, and if you find some one, have them communicate with me."

The interest taken by S. O. Harris, the writer of the above letter, is evidently accounted for by the late Mr. Weikert's membership in the painters' union. Several men by the name of Charles Weikert have left the county, and at least one is known to be living in Kansas. He, however, as a son of John Weikert, of Greenmount, and does not answer in any way the description given.

MAY UNITE ROADS

Would Have Reading and Western Maryland under Same Control.

An interesting report current in financial circles is that John D. Rockefeller is buying control of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad and that this system will come into direct relation with the Western Maryland. The story further runs that Carl R. Gray, president of the Western Maryland, will be made head of both properties, succeeding A. T. Dice, elected president Wednesday to succeed the late Theodore Voorhees, of the Reading. Control of the Reading is held by the Lake Shore and the Baltimore and Ohio. Together, they own 42 per cent of the stock. This was bought many years ago, when the "community of interest" idea was conspicuous in railroad policies. The B. & O. needed the Reading for a New York outlet. In the past few weeks Reading stock has advanced 15 points to the highest price in several years. It is said Mr. Rockefeller has an option on the Lake Shore holdings.

TELLS THRILLING STORY OF ESCAPE

Mrs. Smyser's White Night Clothing Mistaken by Villa's Men for Uniforms of their Band.

Gettysburg friends of Captain Rudolph Smyser, of York, will be intensely interested in the vivid account he gives of the escape from Villa and his bandits in the raid last week. In a letter to his mother, Captain Smyser says:

"Wednesday night we went to bed as usual with no thought of any trouble, but at 4:15 a. m. we woke with a start by hearing firing. I believed it to be the guards firing on some few Mexicans who were stealing or would not halt. I had not opened my mouth when the real firing of musketry began. It was by volley and of large proportion and all at once I realized that the unexpected had happened—Villa was attacking Columbus. I jumped out of bed and grabbed my clothing and as I did they started firing through my bedroom.

"R. E. and Craig both awoke and asked the trouble. I ran to them and told them to keep quiet or we'd probably all be killed. I put on a shirt and a pair of trousers and my boots in the dark. I picked up a red one and a yellow one. I did not know this until later but it would have meant death to light a lamp or match, in fact I felt we would be killed and, candidly, expected it.

"Now they had come to the door and were all around the house and still firing through our bedroom. Outside a Mexican was saying: 'Here American officer,' evidently one of those living in Columbus and who guided them. All this happened in less time than it takes to tell, not over three minutes at the most. I realized to stay in the house was certain death for us all, so I grabbed Craig and with Maude taking R. E., I opened the back door and ran for the barn—our only chance.

"By luck, or God's guidance over us, we reached the barn without being shot at or apparently seen, though they were in the yard and all around the house. I figure they saw us, but Maude and the children being in their night clothes, which were white, they in the dark took us for some of their own force; they wearing mixed clothing. At the barn I found my man, which helped some but very little, as we both had only pistols. As we got to the barn we heard the first door go down, battered in and then a little later, 'they're gone, not here.'

"The troops had now started to drive them back and this made our position worse, as their retreat was right past the barn. We lay there, waiting the first line to come back and part of them stopped at the door and came over to search for horses. Now I felt our end was near, as we could count them through the cracks of the barn, and there were many. Here we were again in luck, for as they came over the fence, seeing the little barn in the yard and saying it was no good, left without coming in. They started to fire from the barn and the bullets in turn whistled over us or hit the roof. The fire became too hot and they left.

"Then I heard what I thought was Americans talking and coming nearer and I felt it was a troop coming, I nearly yelled at them when I saw they were Mexicans talking English. The same procedure was repeated as with the first lot, save that this bunch was led by horses and mules they had looted. We could see them light the lamp, and calmly loot the house, but I could not fire or it would have brought them all down upon us and a pistol has no show against 50 or 50 rifles. I knew it would only be a short time till they would come back or break in the house and come looking for us, so I decided I had to get Maude and the children out of the barn.

"I could not go to camp, for the Mexicans were between us and camp, so I risked going over the corral fence and run for the brushes (mesquite). I looked over the fence, which was adobe, and saw the nearest ones were about 50 yards away, so I ran back to the barn and got Maude and the children. I climbed over the fence and took the children while Maude climbed over. But one shot was fired at us as we ran before we got behind the adobe house and finally to safety."

CUMBERLAND CO. HAS SURCHARGE

Auditors of Different Political Faith Base Action on Failure of Almshouse Steward to Keep Books.

Because John H. Westfall, former steward of the Cumberland county almshouse kept no books, and investigation shows a deficit in the amounts he was shown to have received over what he turned over, the board of county auditors have entered a surcharge against him in the sum of $158.25. In addition the former poor board has been jointly surcharged because they failed to have the steward keep accounts.

These facts have become public, although the report of the auditors will not be presented until next Tuesday when the court meets in regular session. The portion of the report finding a surcharge has been given out. The auditors have been conducting an investigation of the matter and a number of hearings were held.

The surcharge amount is arrived at after considering all of the sums which the investigation showed were received for board and produce, from the total amount which the treasurer's books show was turned over. All of the items were in lump sums and specific details were not obtainable.

No charges of willful dishonesty are made, the statement being that the steward and board should, in the opinion of the auditors, make up the sums lacking.

Mr. Westfall, the former steward, is now engaged in business in the lower end of Cumberland county. The former poor board was Democratic, the auditors and present board Republican.

COLLEGE FOOT BALL

Teams of their Own Class on Gettysburg's New Schedule.

Gettysburg foot ball followers will be glad to know that two first class games of foot ball will be played here next fall, George Washington University and Villanova having been booked. On account of large guarantees being required to secure strong teams the local games in the past have usually been with inferior elevens. Other changes over last year are the dropping of the Army and Lehigh, and the addition of West Virginia University. The schedule follows: October 7, Cornell at Ithaca; Oct. 14, George Washington University at home; Oct. 21, Johns Hopkins at Baltimore; Oct. 29, Penn State at State College; Nov. 4, University of West Virginia at Morgantown; Nov. 11, Villanova at home; Nov. 18, Bucknell at Harrisburg; Nov. 25, Mt. St. Mary's at Emmitsburg; Nov. 30, Franklin and Marshall at Lancaster. The schedule is regarded as the most evenly balanced one that Gettysburg has had for years.

FAVORABLE REPORT

Once again Frederick's War Claim Gets a Chance.

The House Committee on Claims Wednesday submitted a favorable report on the bill introduced by Representative Lewis, calling for the payment by the federal government to the city of Frederick the amount paid by that city to General Jubal A. Early as tribute to the Confederate forces when they invaded Western Maryland. This claim has been before Congress for more than a quarter of a century. In the Senate it has also been reported favorably time and time again, and has passed that body, but it has never passed both bodies in the same Congress.

U. S. TROOPS ENTER MEXICO

Carranzistas Join in Hunt to Capture Villa.

GEN. PERSHING IN COMMAND

Nearly the Whole Force Mobilized at Columbus, N. M., Crosses without Disturbance.

El Paso, Tex., March 16.—The United States army expeditionary force entered Mexico from near Columbus, N. M.

Brigadier General J. J. Pershing's main expeditionary column at Columbus crossed the boundary and started south after Villa and his bandits shortly after noon yesterday.

The first force crossed the line in a single column without disturbance. Carranza forces that had been mobilized along the boundary joined with the American troops south of the line and accompanied them on their march south through the desolate country below the border after the bandits.

Pershing left a few minor detachments behind him. These will follow the main body quickly.

Pershing had four thousand men in his command when he left the line.

It has been said that besides Pershing's column of troops, which are said to be composed chiefly of cavalry, one of more other columns will follow from other points, and perhaps combine with his main body later.

Pershing's report that he and his command had crossed the international boundary line, just south of Columbus, was sent to Major General Frederick Funston, who is in charge of general operations at San Antonio.

His report served to dispel to a great extent fears that had been entertained in some quarters that resistance would be offered by the Carranza government.

Colonel Bertani, the commanding officer of the Carranza garrison at Palomas, on the south side of the dividing line, promptly joined Pershing. His force was only some 400 men, but they were reported to have displayed willingness, and even eagerness, to join the chase.

As a body, the Mexican troops will remain under their own commander, but a number of them are being employed as scouts by General Pershing.

Reports of progress in the country where the search has been begun will be made by Pershing to Funston but it is not anticipated these will be frequent or deal with any but the more important developments. How far into Mexico the column has reached was unknown in El Paso.

General Gaviro, Carranza commander at Juarez, Mexico, said he had received instructions from General Obregon, Carranza's minister of war to order all troops in his district to co-operate in every way with the American expeditionary force.

Juarez is quiet on the surface, but Mexicans, met with insults in some parts of the town and there was evidence of a strong undercurrent of hostility towards the United States.

General Pershing's course for the next two days is known at headquarters in San Antonio and not until after Friday are sharp developments expected.

Later it became known that Colonel George A. Dodd, heading a smaller column, that entered Mexico some distance west of Columbus, also is moving in a southerly direction, and these two forces should be within touch of each other before the end of the week.

By that time it is expected an infantry support will hold the lines of communication along which motor trucks for the transportation of ammunition and supplies will be operated.

Pershing has gone into Mexico with orders to overtake and wipe out Villa and his organization. Unless orders to the contrary are received from those higher in authority than Funston, the campaign will continue until Villa is captured or killed.

U. S. CONSUL QUITS

American Official at Torreon Turns Over His Consulate.

Torreon, Mexico, March 16.—The American consul, A. L. Williams, has turned over the American consulate at Torreon to the British vice consul.

More than forty Americans are waiting here to leave on the train which has been held up for a day by a wreck on the Monterrey road.

The Carranza officials still maintain in spite of fears for them, that the Americans are safe.

"We are gentlemen and Americans have no need to fear, as we will escort them over the border and give them every protection, whatever what happens," said General Francisco Gonzales.

Villa Burns Mormon Town.

Chicago, March 16.—An afternoon newspaper prints a despatch from its correspondent at Columbus, N. M., stating that Villa has burned the Mormon town of Dublan, the home of 5000 Mormons. The latter fled to the old town of Casas Grandes. The despatch added that Villa had 200 men with him.

PANAMA CANAL REOPENS APRIL 15

Slide Will be Cleared Away by That Time.

Washington, March 16.—An official prediction that the Panama canal will be re-opened by April 15 for the passage of deep draft vessels, was announced by the war department.

Conditions in Gaillard cut, scene of the principal earth movement which blocked the waterway last fall are regarded as justifying the forecast.

Colonel Harding, acting governor of the canal zone, telegraphed the war department as follows: "Conditions in Gaillard cut justify predictions that canal will be available for ships of thirty-foot draft" on April 15, subject to probable temporary delays thereafter to meet exigencies of dredging fleet in completing canal to full width and depth and in removing shoals that may possibly develop.

Until this report came, canal officials had refused since the closure to make any estimate of the probable date of reopening. Colonel Harding's telegram is taken to mean that short of another great movement of earth the canal will be practically in full operation again after April 15.

Earth movements in the canal began in September and were at first regarded as comparatively unimportant. Early reports said it would be closed only a few weeks. This became months later as the earth movements continued. Finally it was announced that no estimate worthy of consideration could be made.

PRESIDIO, TEX., MENACED

Americans Assemble to Make Stance Against Revolution.

Presidio, Tex., March 16.—All Americans have assembled in one place prepared to protect themselves from Mexican raiders following outbreaks which occurred among the Carranza troops at Ojinaga, across the border.

A detachment of the Thirtieth Infantry, under First Sergeant Flounders, is patrolling the border night and day, and reinforcements of the Fourteenth Infantry from Fort Clark are being rushed here.

The Mexicans are greatly excited over reports that are being spread from unknown sources misrepresenting the actions and intentions of the United States.

Santiago Rojas, a deputy sheriff of Presidio, was reported to have been killed by Villa bandits a few miles from Ojinaga.

GERMANS CLAIM GAINS IN DRIVE

Say They Pushed Forward on Dead Man's Hill.

FIGHTING WAS TERRIFIC

The French Declare They Hold It and Retake Lost Ground by Counter Charge.

London, March 16.—The Berlin war office announces important gains for the Germans in the fighting north west of Verdun and west of the Meuse. It is said the Germans pushed forward their lines west of Corbeaux (Crows) wood and on the height of Le Mort Homme (the Dead Man) capturing more than 1000 prisoners.

The French war office, however, claims the French still hold the disputed height, although it is admitted the German line has advanced southward until it takes in nearly the whole of Cumieres wood, to the east of the hill. Paris says the French have recaptured a part of the ground gained by the Germans in the renewal Tuesday of their drive west of the Meuse.

The Berlin official description of the gain made coincides with the French version of the fighting as to the sector in which the Germans made their advance.

Tuesday, in a two-and-a-half-hour battle, the crown prince's armies, by delivering massed attacks, succeeded in gaining a footing in the French lines at two points between Bethincourt and Dead Man's Hill, the dominating height, which is the immediate object of the present German drive.

Tuesday night the French launched heavy counter attacks and by using the bayonet and hand grenades freely declare they were able to recapture portions of the trenches the Germans had taken.

The Germans made heavy sacrifices in attempting to cut the French line and obtain possession of Dead Man's Hill, Paris declares. Possession of this height has enabled the French to sweep with their artillery the territory over which the Germans were endeavoring to advance against the fortress.

The French war office statement reveals that the French have lost all of Corbeaux forest, which has been the scene of terrific fighting in this region. The French statement that they hold Bethincourt, Dead Man's Hill, the southern position of Cumieres forest, and the village of Cumieres, shows that the French line now extends south of Corbeaux forest. The French line northwest of Verdun is now very irregular, as the result of salient which the Germans have established south of Bethincourt.

The first appearance of the German Infantry Tuesday after the usual intense bombardment was at four o'clock in the afternoon, and the fighting lasted for three and a half hours. They attacked along the whole line from Bethincourt to the crest of Cumieres—a distance of about four miles.

The heaviest fighting was around Dead Man Hill, the Germans demolishing in masses the concrete pillboxes and other smaller works in the west. They were obliged to cross open ground and a well directed fire from the French had fearful execution among them. Their ranks quickly filled up, however, and although they were stopped again, they ended by getting the footing in advanced French trenches at two points as stated.

Texas Ranchman Kidnapped by Villa Followers and Held Captive.

El Paso, March 16.—Juan Bilbao, an El Paso cattleman, who arrived here said he had paid bandits $1500 ransom.

He said he was captured a few miles south of the Texas border, 200 miles east of El Paso, by twenty-five men who said they were Villa followers.

Friends from El Paso took the ransom to him, and after receiving the money, Bilbao said, some of his captors wanted to shoot him anyhow. The leader crossed into Texas with Bilbao, who said this Mexican had $10,000 in cash, all collected by the band from ranchmen.

ELECT AGNEW DICE READING PRESIDENT

Vice President to Succeed Mr. Voorhees.

Philadelphia, March 16.—Agnew Thomson Dice was elected president of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway company, to succeed Theodore Voorhees, who died Saturday.

Mr. Dice has been vice president and general manager of the Reading. Another feature of the day in Reading affairs was the circulation of a vague report that Rockefeller interests had obtained control of the company. The street did not take the rumor seriously, though excited trading lifted Reading stock as high as it has ever been, to $9 5/8, a figure it attained in 1912 but had not touched since.

Mr. Dice, who was elected by the directors of the Reading Railway company at a special meeting, has been with the road since 1891, when he was appointed superintendent of the Atlantic City railroad, a subsidiary of the Reading. He rose rapidly, becoming assistant superintendent of the Reading division, in charge of freight terminals in this city, superintendent of the Shamokin division, general superintendent, general manager and vice president and general manager. For the last few months he has been in virtual control of the Reading, due to Mr. Voorhees' illness.

Mr. Dice, who lives in Reading, is a member of the Union League, Rittenhouse and Engineers' clubs, New York Railway club, Seaview Golf club and Berkshire Country club of Reading. When in Philadelphia he stops at the Bellevue-Stratford hotel.

VON TRIPITZ DISMISSED

Admiral's Recent Reported Illness Caused a "Sensation" in Berlin.

London, March 16.—The Rome wireless service reports that Admiral von Tripitz has been dismissed as head of the German admiralty and that his illness was announced to cover his dismissal.

Say He Has Resigned.

New York, March 16.—Information reached New York from Berlin that Admiral von Tripitz either has resigned or is upon the point of resigning, the Evening Post announces.

No official announcement of the resignation has been made at Berlin, it is stated, but the source from which the information comes is such, the paper states, as to justify confidence that it is based upon first-hand despatches from Berlin.

Aid for State Employees.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 16.—The state of Pennsylvania is not required to insure its employees, but may pay compensation for any employees injured or killed directly from the appropriation of $15,000 made for the purpose by the last legislature. This statement was made in an opinion to the auditor general by Deputy Attorney General W. M. Hargest.

THE IDEAL HUSBAND.

Some Observations on the Side and a Dogmatic Conclusion.

You are probably a woman. Few men would pause to read an article headed "The Ideal Husband." You know his fellow men too well.

Of course it is true that nearly every married woman has at some time in her life claimed to have found the one ideal husband, but not for long. He is not a stable article, he is only a fleeting glimpse.

Shortly after a young married woman declares hers to be the ideal husband he exhibits a tendency to crumble his crackers in his soup or to place a slice of bread in his empty dinner plate and submerge it in gravy. These things "are not done."

While a man is still engaged—held under option, as it were, but not definitely contracted for—he is for a short while considered ideal. However, he just begins to enjoy his perfection when it is discovered by his general manager elect that he rests his knife and fork half on the tablecloth and half on his plate, while they should be draped artistically across his plate midway between meat and potatoes. To save time, probably he also cuts his meat into small pieces before starting to eat it.

If he has good reasons for doing as he does, but they do not excuse him. His sort of conduct and perfection simply do not walk hand in hand.

No young couple should be engaged long enough for either one to discover the other's shortcomings. So long as a man and a girl are so mutually mesmerized that the eyes of one never leave the eyes of the other he is perfect, but the moment he allows his glances to stray below his Adam's apple, the moment he loses control, he loses also perfection. She realizes that his knowledge of esthetics was gleaned from an abridged edition; that his tie is not in vogue, that his collar is too loose and too low and therefore too comfortable.

Ah me! I have strayed from my subject—the ideal husband. Let us return to it and proceed.

There is no such thing.—Paul Wing in Century.

EXPORTS LEAP

January Foreign Trade Exceeds Record by $62,000,000.

Washington, March 16.—January foreign trade figures, assembled by the department of commerce, put the month's exports at $331,000,000, exceeding by $62,000,000 the total for the same month a year ago.

Imports reached $184,000,000, compared with $122,000,000 a year ago.

The seven months ending with January saw exports valued at more than two billion dollars leave the country, while imports for the same period totalled considerably more than one billion.

January's exports were chiefly manufactured products. Foodstuffs was second on the list.

Effects of Frost.

An egg expands when it is frozen and breaks its shell. Apples contract so much that a full barrel will shrink until the top layer is a foot below the chime. When the frost is drawn out the apples assume their normal size and fill up the barrel again. Some varieties are not appreciably injured by being frozen if the frost is drawn out gradually. Apples will carry safely in a refrigerator car while the mercury is registering fully 20 degrees below zero. Potatoes, being so largely composed of water, are easily frozen. Once touched by frost they are ruined.—Northwest Trade.

What the Well Revealed. One of the first deep wells drilled in the west was put down near Huxley, Nev., by the Central Pacific railway in 1881, in a search for good water. The boring reached a depth of 2,730 feet, but the water obtained was of very unsatisfactory quality. At 1,700 feet the drill encountered a bed of "petrified clams," and the record states that at 1,900 feet well preserved "redwood timber" was found.—Argonaut.

HARD TO GET OUT OF MEXICO

Some Say Protectorate Only Will Restore Peace.

CLARKE A STERN CHAIRMAN.

With Vice President Absent Missouri Statesman Is Insistent Upon Enforcing the Order About Senators Talking No More Than the Rules Allow—McLemore Suddenly Famous.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, March 12.—[Special.]—Getting into Mexico can be accomplished without much difficulty; getting out is another question.

It is doubtful whether people will approve of a movement which means simply the punishing of Villa and the destruction of his gang of marauders and then returning to our own border. And yet we may expect from what Carranza has done in the past that he will order us out of Mexico as soon as we have accomplished the purpose for which we went in.

Carranza ordered us out of Vera Cruz and protested against any effort to save American lives and property at Tampico. All moves in that part of Mexico against Huerta at that time were in the interest of Carranza, yet he tried in every way to humiliate the Americans.

After Intervention, What? There are men of knowledge who say that after the punishment of Villa it will be necessary for the United States to remain in Mexico if the country is ever pacified. Unless President Wilson has changed his mind since he last expressed an opinion on Mexican affairs he will not leave the troops in Mexico. He feels, perhaps, that the other American republics do nothing that would look like aggression of Mexico or the acquisition of territory. So it may be expected that when the object for which Mexico has been invaded has been accomplished the troops will return.

But this will not be done without protest, as there is a widespread belief that only by virtually exercising a protectorate can peace be restored to Mexico.

Wants Public Discussion. Senator Borah of Idaho tries to have public discussion of treaties affecting American interests, such, for instance, those relating to Nicaragua and Panama. But the senate will not take any such advanced step. The theory is that all our foreign affairs must be kept in the dark for fear some one will hear something and give the information to foreign governments.

It is too bad that the discussion of the treaty proposing to pay Colombia for the loss of Panama cannot be in public. That ought to be quite interesting.

Clarke Holds Them Down. When Vice President Marshall is absent President Pro Tem, Clarke is insistent upon enforcing the rule about senators talking no more than the rules allow. He has been holding down a number of glib-tongued statesmen who like nothing better than a running argument lasting for hours.

Defends Old Kentucky. Congressman Murray of Oklahoma, speaking on some provision relating to tobacco in which Kentucky men showed a great interest, remarked that "Kentucky was full of colonels and the colonels full of corn."

That aroused Thomas of Kentucky, who came in just in time to catch the last remark. He good naturedly chaffed Murray, saying that the alfalfa statesman had cost him $40 in tobacco, which he had furnished because only in Kentucky could such fine tobacco be obtained. Tobacco was a great Kentucky product, Thomas insisted, but he said that unless Alfalfa Bill stopped begging from him he would go broke in keeping up the supply.

Burg Drinking Water. Every one in awhile some senator or member of the house arises and points out that by the pollution of streams thousands of people are poisoned each year and suggests that measures be taken for the protection of such streams. If any one makes any remark it is to agree with the speaker, and that is all that comes of it. There are no votes in putting through such legislation.

Wouldn't Be Bottled. Senator Ashurst of Arizona wanted to talk about the Mexican affair, and, as usual, Chairman Stone of the foreign relations committee tried to shut him off with points of order and other parliamentary devices.

"It's no use," said Ashurst, "you can't bottle me up now. I am going to speak on this situation."

His Name in History. Two weeks ago it is doubtful if very many people knew there was a man named McLemore in congress. Congressman Gallivan of Massachusetts, replying to the assertion by a Republican member that the resolution which caused so much fuss came from the Democratic side, said, "No one on this side of the house is proud of that fact, with perhaps the exception of the gentleman from Texas, Mr. McLemore, who has enjoyed the spotlight of notoriety that would never have been his but for this freak resolution of 'whereas'."

Flattery. No flattery, boy! An honest man cannot live by it; it is a little sneaking art, which knaves use to cajole and soften fools withal.—Otway.

DOCTORS USING AMOLOX WITH GREAT SUCCESS

This remarkable letter, coming from a prominent physician engaged in active practice for over 25 years, proves the merit of this wonderful new Remedy.

I have used Amolox in four different cases with excellent results. All showed marked improvement from the start. Two apparently are cured, the skin being free from scales and redness, and perfectly normal.

I consider Amolox a Remedy of rare merit. I know of nothing in the modern text books that equals it in therapeutic value.

H. R. Hills, M. D., Youngstown, O. Pimples on the face, Blackheads, Acne and all minor skin troubles yield quickly to the use of the Amolox ointment. Sufferers of Eczema, Psoriasis, Tetter, Salt Rheum, and bad chronic cases of skin diseases lasting for years, should use both the Ointment and Solution to effect a cure. Trial size 50c. Guaranteed and recommended by The People's Drug Store.

WHY not give your lad the same training?

"When I was a growing lad, and came upon many words in my reading that I did not understand, my mother, instead of giving me the definition when I applied to her, uniformly sent me to the dictionary to learn it, and in this way I gradually learned many things besides the meaning of the individual word in question—among other things, how to use a dictionary, and the great pleasure and advantage there might be in the use of the dictionary. Afterwards, when I went to the village school, my chief diversion, after lessons were learned and before they were recited, was in turning over the pages of the 'Unabridged' of those days. Now the most modern Unabridged—the NEW INTERNATIONAL—gives me a pleasure of the same sort. So far as my knowledge extends, it is at present the best of the one-volume dictionaries, and quite sufficient for all ordinary uses. Even those who possess the splendid dictionaries in several volumes will yet find it a great convenience to have this, which is so compact, so full, and so trustworthy as to leave, in most cases, little to be desired."—Albert S. A GOOD FRIEND

A good friend stands by you when in need. Gettysburg people tell how Doan's Kidney Pills have stood the test. Mr. Tawney endorsed Doan's over six years ago and again confirms the story. Could you ask for more convincing testimony?

John J. Tawney, stone mason, 234 Baltimore St., Gettysburg, says: "My back ached constantly and often in the morning, I was so stiff and lame that I was hardly able to get up out of bed. I suffered off and on from rheumatic pains. The kidney action was too frequent and caused me trouble. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box from the People's Drug Store. I was much surprised at the quick relief I got. I am not bothered with rheumatic pains the way I used to be and I am much better all around."

(Statement given January 3, 1910).

The Only Fool

By M. QUAD

Copyright, 1916, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Sam Martin married Jim Hewson because she was a hired girl and working for $2 a week; because, again, she was tired of work and wanted a home. Jim Hewson married Sam Martin because he also wanted a home and because he knew that she carried $8 a month. That would pay the rent on a cottage in a village in those far back days.

Jim was lazy. He was born that way and couldn't help it. He hadn't energy enough to sweat a shirt collar, and therefore when he worked he got paid according to his energy, which paid seldom exceeded 15 cents a day.

The bridal tour of the newly weds consisted of walking a mile arm in arm, each with a basket on the free arm, to a huckleberry swamp a mile away. There they picked twelve quarts of berries—that is, Sarah picked ten quarts and Jim two. Then they walked back to town and sold the berries to a grocer for 60 cents in cash.

"You see," said Jim as he finished the money in his hand, "we can get along as easy as grease. This money would buy us provisions for a week."

The bride half laughed at the remark, but soon felt serious and hadn't much more to say. Two weeks later, however, she said, Jim had gone to see her in the kitchen in which she worked and was feeling glad that he was a married man when she said:

"Jim, I have been thinking things over."

"Well?" was the query.

"I have come to the conclusion that I was either a lunatic or an idiot to have married you. You are all wrong. You are lazy and shiftless. All you haven't got the energy of a potato bug. You want me to work and support you instead of it being the other way. If you were the best husband in the state I wouldn't do it."

"Well, what are we going to do?" asked the husband after a lapse of a minute.

"I can't get a divorce from you, Jim, for I haven't got the money to put one through. If we agreed on a separation it would do me no good, for I'd still be bound to you. If I was free altogether I might stand a chance of getting a husband who would provide a home and comforts for me."

"You mean if I should die you'd have your chance?"

The wife didn't reply. She only looked at him.

Jim rose up and left the house with out a good night and went to his bed of hay in the stable, and for an hour he did more thinking than he had done in a year before.

In about a week he tried suicide. He went over on the railroad track, in mid-afternoon, when the 3 o'clock express came along he was standing between the rails and facing it. The whistle screamed and tooted, but Jim stood there as if spiked to a tie. The engineer tried to stop the train, but the pace was thirty miles an hour when the cowcatcher did its work.

Five minutes later a man who had witnessed the accident from forty rods away came running up just as the victim was climbing the fence of a cornfield into which he had been hurled. He had a slight limp in the left leg, but that was nothing for Jim to kick about.

Sarah had heard of this attempt and started out to look for Jim, but she didn't have the luck to find him. He was missing from his usual haunts for three or four days, and then he turned up on a bluff overlooking the mill pond half a mile from the bridge. He was going to try the water cure this time. The bluffs were thirty feet above the water, and Jim couldn't swim a stroke. Instead of striking the water, however, he struck a strip of mud.

"You blamed idiot! What did you jump for? I saw you when you made the leap!" said a passerby.

"I wanted to die," replied Jim.

Sarah got every loose boy in town to fight for Jim, but they hunted in vain. He had one more attempt coming to him, and if found at all he wanted to be found dead. He went two miles away from town and hired to a farmer to sprinkle paris green over the potato vines of his patch. The farmer left him alone for an hour, and Jim mixed a big dose of the powder and drank it down. It was an overdose, however, and it was thrown off, and his life was saved again.

It was when poor Jim was tottering down the road toward the village that a man in an auto overtook him and halted to say:

"If you aren't drunk, then you are sick. Get in here. Now, what's the matter?"

Jim told him all, and, curiously enough, the autoist proved to be an uncle of his whom he had not heard of since his boyhood days. When the uncle had heard the story to its end he said:

"Jim, you had a fool for a father. You have got three fool brothers and four sisters and about five or six fool uncles and aunts and the Lord only knows how many fool cousins, but you are the first fool in all the family that ever owned up to being a fool. You shall be rewarded in consequence. I will buy you a house and lot in the village, give you $5000 to set you and Sarah on your feet and let that you'll come out very near the top. A man who is a fool and knows it is a better man than one who thinks he is wise and doesn't know it."

And Jim and Sarah made up and have lived happily ever since.

DAIRY WISDOM.

Brick shaped prints of butter are preferable to round prints because the public demands that style of package and because it is more easily handled, wrapped and packed.

The proper way to strain milk is to pour it through three thicknesses of white cheesecloth, which should be washed, soaked and sunned after each use. Strain immediately after milking.

Corn should be uniformly packed in the silo and with good distribution of stalks and ears. Keep the sides about two feet higher than the center. This will tend to prevent mold.

Butter enters into the diet of the whole civilized world. It was used as food by the Hindus as far back as 2,000 B. C. It is said that the Arabs discovered butter. Milk carried in skins on the camels' backs was churned by the rough handling.

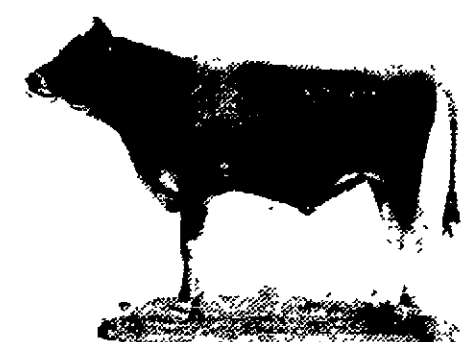

WATER FOR COWS.

Heavy Producing Animals Require an Enormous Quantity.

A cow in full flow of milk will drink four times as much water as when dry. One who has had to carry water to a heavy milking cow can appreciate this large water requirement for milk production.

As a result of investigations at the various experiment stations and the observations of practical dairymen, it may be stated that the average cow giving milk must be supplied at least twelve and one-half gallons of water daily. While this amount is sufficient for the ordinary production, much greater amounts are necessary for extremely heavy producers.

Cows are creatures of habit, and ordinary individuals will, as a rule, get along if they have opportunity to drink all they desire at a regular time each day. These high producers, however, should have access to water at least twice daily. An abundant supply of pure water is a very important factor on the dairy farm. If the cows have to go to some creek or pond during the winter and drink through ices chopped in the ice they will seldom consume as much water as they should. A tank holding a good supply of water should be near the barn. A good engine and pump should be provided to keep it full. Water pumped direct from a well is about the proper temperature.

Turnips as a Dairy Feed.

Turnips are a good feed, but care must be taken or they are likely to taint the milk. We would feed about fifty pounds of them per day and immediately after milking says Horner, Dairyman. If this practice is followed there will be little or no trouble from their use. In connection with the turnips feed all the clover, vetch and cut hay each animal will consume. A mixture consisting of 300 pounds crushed barley, 200 pounds crushed corn and 300 pounds crushed oats will supplement this roughage very nicely. Feed about one pound for each three to three and a half pounds of milk produced.

Causes of Cowpox.

Cowpox is a contagious disease due to an organism which cannot be seen by the microscope and which is so small that it passes through a fine porcelain filter, says Hoard's Dairyman. The disease always is traceable to a previous outbreak, to an affected animal or to a man who has had smallpox or who has been recently vaccinated against it. One attack generally gives immunity to subsequent attacks. It may be contracted at any season of the year and is spread from cow to cow by the milkers' hands.

Stabling the Cows.

Give the cow a chance to keep clean. She cannot do it if the stall is too long or too short or not high enough. Cow stalls should be so constructed that the cows will lie with their heads in the manger, otherwise they will be compelled to step backward before lying down, in which case they have no chance to keep clean. A large and adjustable stall that line all the cows up to the gutter are important factors in keeping the cows and floor clean.

Must Have Reputation.

The man who would build up a good reputation either for dairy products or for live stock must deliver that which he agrees to deliver, he must give value received in every deal that he makes. Honesty is not only the best policy, but it is the only business policy today.

A Remarkable Lottery.

Perhaps the most remarkable lottery was that in France in 1660, when the conclusion of peace and the marriage of Louis XIV were celebrated it was drawn publicly and under the inspection of the police, and the first prize 100,000 livres, was won by the king himself. He would not accept it, however, and it was left over to the next lottery in which he had no ticket.

Status of the Selfish.

A selfish man is one whose purposes interfere with your own selfish interests.

The Folly of Not Advertising

Is apparent when we stop to think that absolutely no business ever grew to any proportion without the aid of advertising.

The supposition that it is expensive is in itself ridiculous from the fact that anything that increases trade—i. e., increases profits—cannot be expensive. If advertising is efficacious it must increase trade—and provided it does not do this it is not advertising.

The argument that you cannot prepare advertising is moved by the willingness of The Times to perform this service for you, and, when we prepare it, it is to our own advantage to see that it brings results for you.

May we assist you?

SENATE FOR ARMY INCREASE

Take Quick Action to Raise Regular Forces to 120,000.

TO RECRUIT MEN AT ONCE

The War Department Expects Little Trouble in Securing the Additional 20,000.

Washington, March 16.—The senate approved unanimously the joint resolution to bring the regular army up to its full authorized strength of 120,000 men to the present establishment.

The resolution passed the house on Tuesday with one dissenting vote, that of London, Socialist, from New York.

The resolution was called up by Mr. Chamberlain, Oregon, chairman of the military affairs committee, as soon as the senate met. The committee had previously approved the resolution unanimously.

When word that the senate had adopted the resolution reached the war department, the adjutant general's office took steps to begin recruiting the additional men immediately. Instructions were prepared for recruiting officers throughout the United States to conduct an active campaign.

There is no intention at present, it was made clear, to lower the physical requirements of recruits and war department officials believe the full number of men will be available within a short time. More than 48,000 men, who fully met these requirements, it was pointed out, were recruited last year without a special effort being made to obtain them.

Senator Gronna, Republican, North Dakota, at first objected, but withdrew his opposition, while Senator Hoke Smith, Georgia, offered an amendment to stipulate that new enlistments should not be for more than two years. He agreed, however, not to press his proposal.

Senator Vardaman, Democrat, Mississippi, urged immediate action, for the moral support it would give to the campaign against Villa, but a vote was delayed for a time while Senator Newlands, Democrat, Nevada, spoke on preparedness and urged his proposal for a joint congressional committee to co-ordinate defense legislation.

A roll call on the resolution was then ordered on request of Senator Gallinger, Republican, New Hampshire, who explained that he asked it for the purpose of "demonstrating that there is no division in the senate over measures to provide for protection of the country."

Thirty-nine senators were in the chamber and voted for the resolution when the vote was announced. Senator McCumber, Republican, of North Dakota, declared it served as notice to the world that "the nation and its congress stand as a single man in defense of American rights."

OSBORNE ACQUITTED

Judge Holds Former Sing Sing Warden Did Not Commit Perjury. While Plains, N. Y., March 16.—Thomas Mott Osborne, former warden of Sing Sing, was acquitted of the charges of perjury by direction of Justice Tompkins to a jury in the supreme court.

Justice Tompkins held that Dr. Rudolph Diedling, a state prison commissioner, was without authority, under the state prison law, when he investigated, single-handed, Osborne's administration of Sing Sing.

It was before Dr. Diedling that Osborne committed the alleged perjury by swearing, as charged, that he was without knowledge of certain cases of immorality.

Justice Tompkins held there was no perjury committed by Osborne, inasmuch as the warden had the right to keep his pledges given to him.

Bounty Payments Fall Off

Harrisburg, Pa., March 16.—Payment of bounties for scalps of noxious animals or birds approved for February amounted to $2000 less than in January. When $12,000 was approved. This is attributed to the killing of many fur-bearing animals and to weather conditions. Fewer attempts at fraud have been noted.

All Roads in Meat Probe

Washington, March 16.—The interstate commerce commission extended the scope of its investigation into the rates and practices involved in the transportation of fresh meats, live stock and packing house products so as to include all the railroads in the United States.

Match Play Roasts Child

Pottstown, Pa., March 16.—Mary, four-year-old daughter of Mary Roth, owner of this place, was burned to death when her clothes ignited playing with matches. The child's mother and grandfather sustained serious burns trying to save her.

Typhus Causes Death in U. S.

Santa Rita, N. M., March 16.—Typhus caused the death of Francisco Sotoleros. According to officials, it was brought here by Mexicans from Mexico.

MOB AFTER SUSPECTS

Storm Alderman's Office in Pittston for Alleged Slayers.

Pittston, Pa., March 16.—Two hundred citizens of Duryea and Pittston gathered about the office of Alderman Thomas Loftus here and demanded that Samuel Salvo, Louis Cusabo and Vincenzo Perrelli, the men charged with the murder of John Melvin, a jitney driver, be turned over to them. There were cries of "lunch them."

Police officials and county detectives secretly took the prisoners from the rear of the alderman's office while the crowd was urged by others to keep cool.

The prisoners and their escorts were forced to jump fences and run through backyards to the railroad station. The men were placed aboard a train and taken to the county jail at Wilkes-Barre.

All of the prisoners have been identified as the passengers in the jitney which Melvin drove. John Reddington, another passenger, has identified them as the men who shot the driver to death.

THREE ARE ACCUSED IN LUMBER SWINDLE

Postal Inspectors Looking For Five Others.

Philadelphia, March 16.—Three men were arrested in New York by Philadelphia and Newark postal inspectors on the charge of using the mails to defraud.

The men, with five others, are alleged to have been operating a gigantic lumber swindle aggregating at least $500,000 in extent, and are said to have been operating "fake" lumber companies in this and other eastern cities.

The men arrested are James N. Holloway, said to be a member of a prominent family in this city; George Hull Dalrymple, New York, and Thomas G. Westcott, of Newark, N. J. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the five others.

According to James Cortelyou, chief postal inspector in this city, three of the eight men who are accused of operating companies to defraud creditors, are prominent Philadelphians. He refused to divulge their identity and said the other five would be arrested.

The eight men are alleged to have been operating a scheme by conducting lumber offices in a number of large cities during the past three years. They are alleged to have gained good business standing with planing mills and lumber manufacturers by a system of false references.

According to Chief Cortelyou, the men had offices in Philadelphia, New York, Newark, Jersey City, Irvington, N. J., and Bellhaven, N. C.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 16.—The smallest payment of state tax made in many months was received at the state treasury. It amounted to one cent and was a balance due on a bank stock tax by a savings bank.

ANCHOVY SANDWICHES. Now that there are so many afternoon teas and lunches in demand this good recipe for anchovy filling may be of use. Put into a bowl that has been rubbed with garlic one dessert-spoonful of olive oil, one-half teaspoonful of salt and red pepper, as much as can be held on the point of a knife. Mix into this two cakes of Neufchatel cheese and one tablespoonful of butter. Mix thoroughly. Then mix into this a piece of Roquefort cheese the size of an English walnut and two teaspoonfuls of anchovy paste. This is enough for twelve sandwiches.

CHESTNUT SAUCE. Take the shells from a pint of large chestnuts, scrub them, remove the inner skins, break in halves and cook in salted water, boiling or steaming until very soft; wash in the water in which they were cooked. Mix together one tablespoonful of flour, two tablespoonfuls of brown butter, add to the chestnut puree and season to taste with salt and pepper.

RUNNING THE BLOCKADE.

It Was Successfully Done Ages Ago at the Siege of Syracuse.

Blockading and the line running is not a thing that was done by any means. One of the earliest and most successful instances of the line running back two centuries before the Christian era. Marcus Claudius Marcellus, commanding a powerful Roman army and an efficient fleet, laid siege to Syracuse, a rich city on the island of Sicily. Carthage, Rome's great rival on the north shore of Africa, one of the great seapowers of that time, was not at all pleased with the idea of Rome capturing Syracuse, a free city and probably a source of great revenue through trade with Carthage.

Syracuse was a well fortified city, and there seemed to be no immediate prospect of Rome taking it by storm. So Marcellus decided to starve his inhabitants into submission. He put a cordon of ships across the entrance to the harbor and arrayed his army on the land side so that no succor could come from without. But he had underestimated the boldness of the Carthaginians. There was no question of contraband in those days—conditional or other.

In their swift war driven galleys the sailors of the African city easily eluded the ships set to watch the port and carried provisions and war material into the beleaguered city. So successful were the Carthaginians in getting supplies into the city—running the blockade—that had it not been for treachery it would have been impossible to hold out indefinitely. While blockades probably had been established before on a small scale, the blockade of Syracuse is one of the earliest instances where the efficiency of a blockade by sea was of vital importance in determining the success of war on an important seaport.—Munsey's Magazine.

AS WE GROW OLDER

our minds are quite as active as in former years but our strength does not respond when we need it most; perhaps the kidneys are weak, the liver torpid, rheumatic pains or stiffened joints beset us, and we cannot easily throw off the colds that winter brings.

What we need is the rich cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion to renew the blood and carry strength to every organ of the body, while its glycerine soothes the respiratory tract, and its hypophosphites strengthen the excitable nerves.

Scott's Emulsion is a scientific oil-food, of unusual benefit to those past fifty years—particularly during the colder seasons, it imparts warmth and creates strength. One bottle will prove its worth. No alcohol or harmful drugs. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

Straightening Children's Figures.

A governess at one of the English castles where Parker went with Cousin Margaret told her that she had to read aloud an hour every day while her charges were spread flat on their backs on blankets on the floor. This position rests and straightens the figure. It is wonderful, and strengthens the neck, in fact, adjusts the whole figure.—From the Delinquent.

The "Dog Letter."
The letter "R" was called the "dog letter" by the ancients because the manner in which they pronounced it resembled to a degree the snarling of a dog. It is the last letter that most children learn to pronounce. They use "w" instead, saying "vewy" for very, or "Wohert" for Robert. The Chinese invariably use "r" in the place of "r," which they cannot pronounce.

Calendars Long in Use.
The Egyptian calendar, fixing the length of the year at 365 days, was adopted a little more than 4,300 years before Christ. Of course it took a pretty high civilization, which in this case means an old one, to arrive at such a calendar. Scholars agree that some Chaldean inscriptions date from fifty to seventy centuries B. C., and no one pretends that the oldest of these mementoes have been found.
